

The Hacking Of Seeker, And Other Victims Accounts.

April 17th - @OneWhoFinds account compromised

April 18-25th - Researching everything found below

On April 17th, Seeker, OneWhoFinds, got a message in Roblox from a company going under the name of "Motive Creations" in this message, they mentioned how Seeker had a game of interest to them they offered to revamp and would love to buy it off of him and pay him in pretty much whatever and upfront, Seeker, being curious, went to verify his Roblox to the discord using the invite link, he later joins the discord, and is met with RoLink(RoLinked, RoLinker)

Upon verifying with RoLinker, he was cookie grabbed and had no time to save his account, his email was changed, they changed his account age and settings, and he could not log back in. He later publicly spoke about this on April 18th of this year. He started making tweets about it, but most did not perform too well. Later on the 18th seeker, along with his fan base sent out appeals for Seekers account, but every appeal ended up with a staff member saying the same thing.

Thank you for reaching out to Roblox Customer Support regarding account compromise issue.

Before we can provide assistance for any Roblox account, account ownership must be verified to ensure we're speaking with the correct owner.

There are no email addresses associated with the provided account "onewhofinds". Without this information, we are unable to verify ownership and cannot assist further with the requested account.

If you choose to create a new Roblox account, we recommend adding and verifying your email address upon account creation as this allows us to verify ownership and allows you to use the reset password feature in the event you ever lose access.

We appreciate your understanding.

Sincerely,
Everett

ROBLOX

Now this was a huge issue, as there was no way for him to gain access back to his account as Roblox kept repeating that they would not be able to do anything until he verified his email, but again, the problem was his email was changed and reset by the hackers, making it almost impossible to appeal.

The hacker played many games on his account later that day, the community logged it:

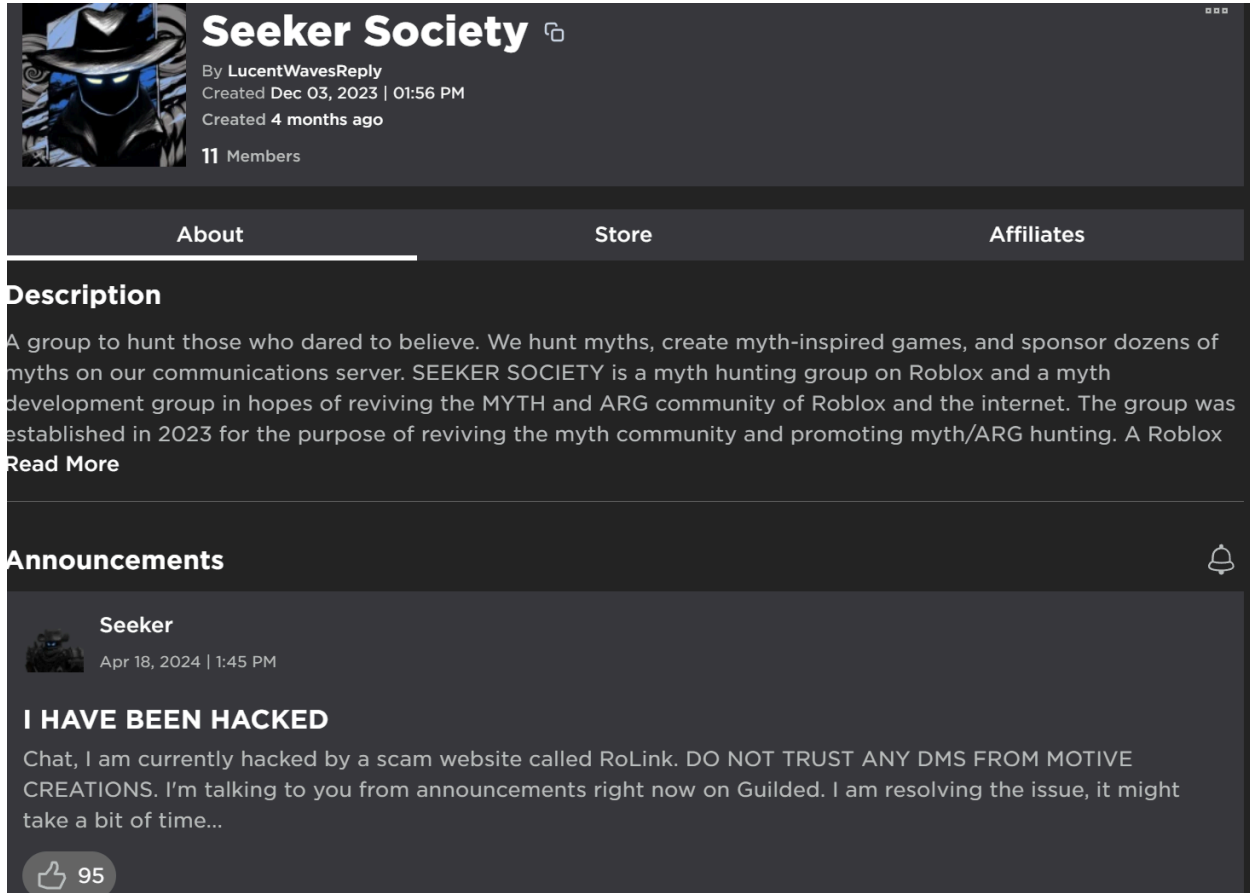

GAME LOG - 4/18/2024 14:23 CST: Seeker (hacked) playing Blade Ball

GAME LOG - 4/18/2024 15:44 CST: Seeker (hacked) playing Blox Fruits

GROUP LOG - 4/18/2024 ~19:30 CST:

Later that day, his group was compromised by the hacker and the hacker took ownership of his group.

The screenshot shows the Roblox group page for "Seeker Society". The header includes a group icon (a character in a hat), the group name "Seeker Society", and details: "By LucentWavesReply", "Created Dec 03, 2023 | 01:56 PM", "Created 4 months ago", and "11 Members". Below the header are tabs for "About", "Store", and "Affiliates". The "About" tab is selected, showing a "Description" section with text about myth hunting and a "Read More" link. Below the description is an "Announcements" section with a bell icon. The first announcement is from "Seeker" dated "Apr 18, 2024 | 1:45 PM" with the title "I HAVE BEEN HACKED". The announcement text reads: "Chat, I am currently hacked by a scam website called RoLink. DO NOT TRUST ANY DMS FROM MOTIVE CREATIONS. I'm talking to you from announcements right now on Guilded. I am resolving the issue, it might take a bit of time...". At the bottom of the announcement is a thumbs-up icon and the number "95".

In a desperate attempt, he told everyone in his group to leave it, as he was hacked and he didn't want other people to get hacked or be at risk of their accounts.

Nearing the end of the 18th, Seeker, (OneWhoFinds) decides to make another attempt on getting his account back, by bringing it to the attention of youtubers, he started reaching out to people and streamers to talk to them about it, but it didn't go very well to plan, as some of these people were very hard to get hold of.

Shortly after these events, a day later, on the 19th of April, Seeker finds the owner behind all this through the discord.

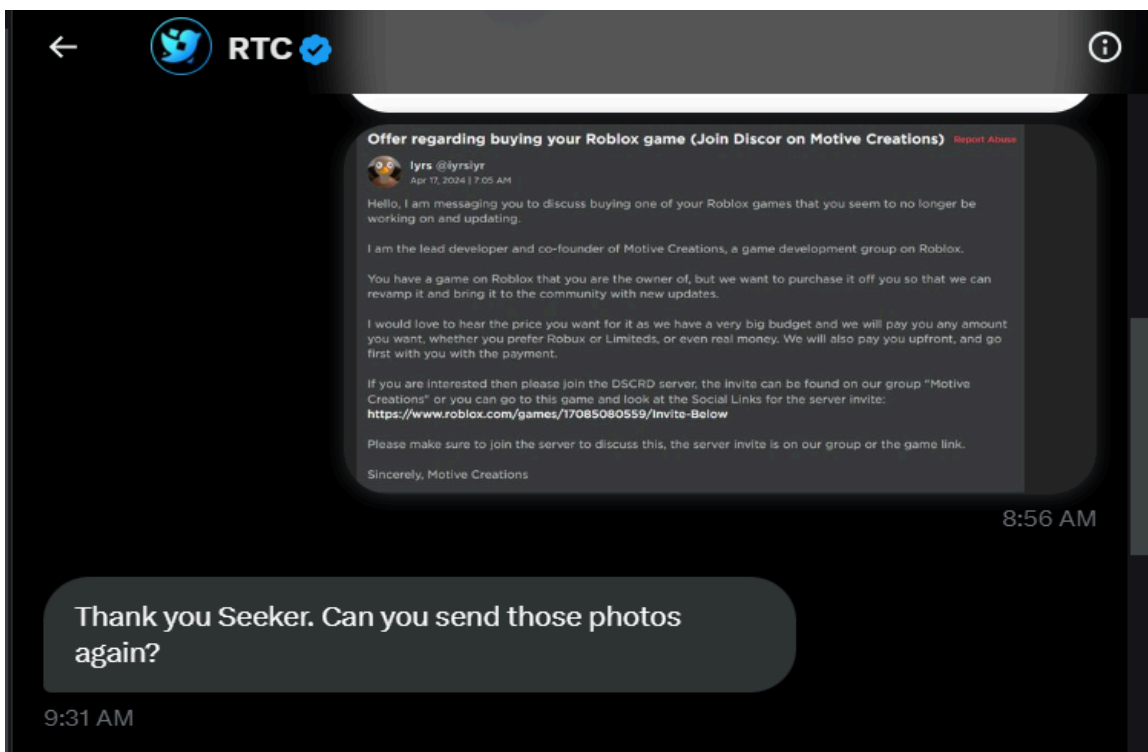

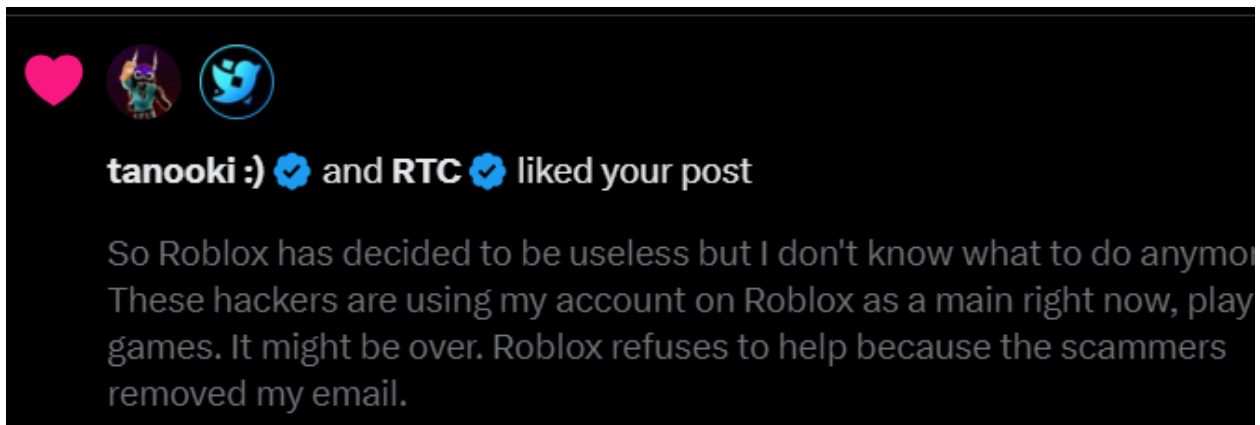

He goes on to talk with him awhile, asking if there was any way to get his account back, the hacker claimed his account was safe, although all the robux was stolen and donated back to the hacker.

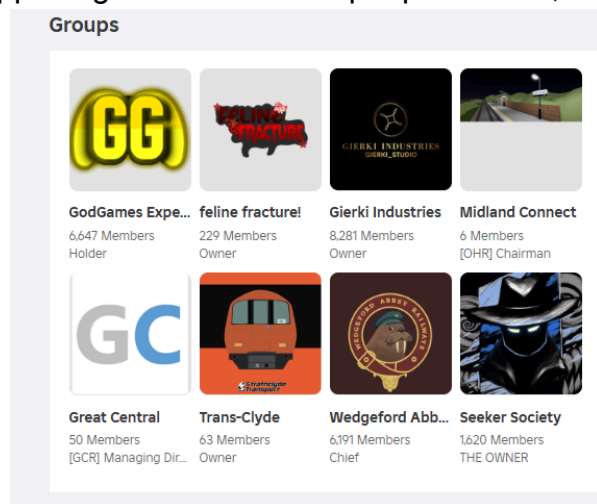

The hacker, replying to Seeker about getting his account back, says he can pay $50 bitcoin, or 50 dollar uber eats canadian card.

Seeker agrees, hoping to get his account back, but this will turn out to not go so well, upon finding Seeker's twitter, he realizes this entire time Seeker has been talking about him over the internet exposing him, and bringing attention to his scams, and does not want to make the deal. As time went on, he and his community reached out to RTC News, the popular roblox news twitter, and they got involved into the situation, liking his tweets, and soon making a post about it.

https://twitter.com/one_who_finds/status/1781050042855420190

Also, may I mention, at this time, Seeker wasn't the only person this was happening too, it was happening to several other people as well, as example:

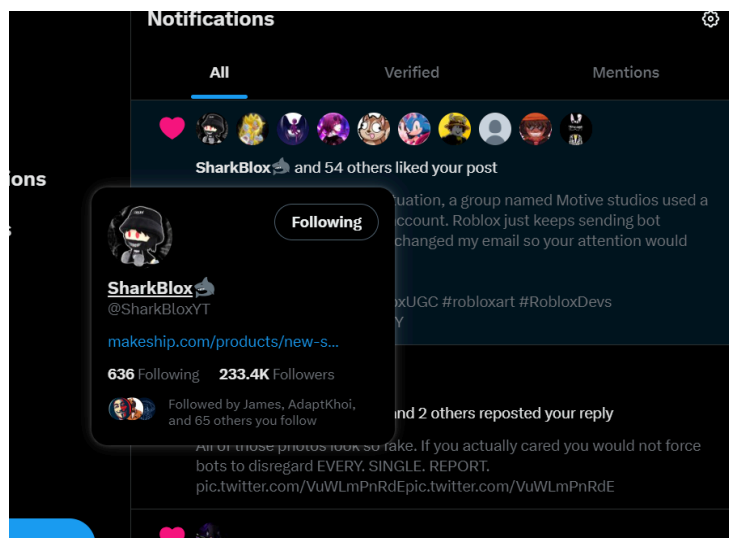

As you can see, many people had their groups and accounts hacked, some locked out and reached out to us, which is how we were able to get in contact with them and help the best we can.

More proof of the hacker being in his account, and also spending his robux:

https://twitter.com/One_Who_Finds/status/1781318302889136183

As time went on, on the 19th of April, the situation started to get a lot more attention:

Example: getting attention of SharkBlox on Seekers tweet

SharkBlox's recognition of this later led to the situation escalating more and getting more attention:

▶ DON'T VERIFY YOUR ROBLOX ACCOUNT WITH DISCORD BOTS...

With the attention of SharkBlox, it got attention of more and more people, for example, Chizeled (First half of video): ▶ Roblox Is FULLY BROKEN Right Now...

After Chizeled, Chaseroony (3rd part of video):

▶ Thousands Of Roblox Accounts Are Being Terminated...

With this, the hacker started getting more and more upset. And on the 20th of April, RTC News released their tweet:

https://twitter.com/Roblox_RTC/status/1781807011585298746

With this tweet along with the videos the hacker was furious, and with that, caused a lot more destruction. But what fueled his anger even more was the fact Seeker Society, Seeker/OneWhoFinds community, was doing everything in their power to take down and rid of the groups, hacking accounts, etc:

The group Seeker Society took down ^.

<https://www.roblox.com/users/5797265969/profile>

The main hacking account that Seeker Society took down ^

He went on to make more accounts. But they kept getting banned, and they kept rebranding rolink and motive creations to different things, such as "Vik Games" But it all kept getting took down, with the loss of money from the hacker, he got upset, and then started terminating the accounts he hacked, along with this, Seeker got PROOF his email was reset from a friend who was talking with the hacker:

https://twitter.com/One_Who_Finds/status/1783268602226889081

One of the terminated/deleted victim's account:

<https://www.roblox.com/users/1388541205/profile/>

Along with terminating and deleting accounts, the hacker also did worse later on, around April 20th. He started stealing peoples games as he was upset for the publicity and getting exposed over the internet.

With this, his games were stolen and claimed as Motive Creations, upon clicking or playing it, it would redirect you to Motive Creation's version, which would be a direct copy of the actual game Seeker made. This also happened for many other victims, but for note, i'll leave one here, you may check the victims list if you'd like to see all of the hacked accounts and stolen games.

Upon joining, you will be redirected to Motive Creations version/direct stolen copy.

Note: these games ARE NOT open source

As of right now, this is all that has happened up until now, we are still working with the victims and staying with them until this issue is hopefully resolved by your staff.
